WHY ME?

I'm a resourceful Frontend Web Developer bringing in-depth knowledge of the latest technology trends to produce clean website designs. I have experience handling complex information architecture, user experiences, frontend code, and content management systems. In addition, I've worked for many years in a startup-orientated team. As a result, I can work in a fast-paced environment, be self-directed, wear many hats, and collaborate with other team members and clients.
